

The committee consisting of Mr. Howell, Mr. Monroe, Mr. Pinckney, Mr. R.R. Livingston and Mr. Gardner, appointed to revise the institution of the office of the Secretary of Congress, and to report such alterations as they may judge necessary, beg leave to report the following draft of an ordinance

The COMMITTEE consisting of Mr. Howell, Mr. Monroe, Mr. Pinckney , Mr. R.R. Livingston and Mr. Gardner, appointed to revise the Institution of the Office of the Secretary of Congress, and to report such Alterations as they may judge necessary,—beg leave to report the following Draft of an ORDINANCE,

AN ORDINANCE for the Regulation of the Office [of?] Secretary of Congress, and for extending it to the Home Department.

Be it ORDAINED by the UNITED STATES in CONGRESS assembled, That the Secretary of Congress shall also in future be charged with the following Duties business of the home department, and shall keep his office in or near the statehouse or building where the sessions of Congress shall be holden.

He shall carefully preserve the journals of Congress, and all other papers committed to his charge; and such as are secret in their nature, or by special order, shall not be communicated by him to any person, except members of Congress, and such persons as may be entitled thereto by special resolutions.

He shall not deliver any original journal, foremost out of his office, nor any letter or paper out of his office, without an order of Congress, and a receipt therefor. without an order of

Library of Congress

Congress & a receipt therefor. to any Member of Congress, or to any other other person without an Order of Congress

He shall deliver attested copies of resolutions of Congress, or public papers in his office, not secret in their nature, or by special order, to any members of Congress who may require the same in writing.

He shall transmit to the secretary for foreign affairs, to the secretary for the war department, to the secretary of marine, to the commissioners of the board of treasury, and to the postmaster general, all papers referred to them by Congress respectively, as well as an authenticated copy of all acts, ordinances and resolutions of Congress touching their respective departments.

He shall keep a daily account of all memorials, petitions and communications received by Congress noting therein their object, and the steps taken respecting them; and lay the said account or register every day on the table in Congress, for the inspection of the members.

He shall return such answers as Congress shall direct to be given to the memorials, petitions and communications, except where Congress shall judge it proper, that the same be given by their president, or where it shall be the duty of any of the executive departments to return such answer.

He shall transmit to the several states, all acts, ordinances, resolutions and recommendations of Congress— attend to the execution of them—correspond with the states, and for the purpose of receive ing communications from them touching relative to of the the same, and make report thereof to Congress—keeping a book in which shall be entered copies of all such letters and communications.

He shall attend Congress during their session, and in their recess, the Committee of the States, either in person or by his deputy—read the public dispatches, acts, ordinances and reports of committees, and make the proper entries on the journals.

Library of Congress

He shall authenticate all acts and proceedings of Congress not specially directed to be authenticated by their president; and keep a register of all treaties, conventions, ordinances and permanent acts of Congress.

He shall cause to be made and laid upon the table for every state represented in Congress, and for every member appearing for any state unrepresented, a copy of every ordinance, or report upon a matter of importance and not of a secret nature, for the consideration of which a day is assigned.

He shall keep the great seal of the federal union, and cause the same to be affixed to every act, ordinance or paper Congress shall direct. He shall superintend the printing of the journals, and other publications ordered by Congress.

He shall keep a book in which shall be noted in columns, the names of the several members of Congress, the state which they represent, the date of their appointment, and the term for which they are appointed.

Be it also ORDAINED, That the salary of the Secretary of Congress and for the home department, shall be dollars per annum. That a deputy secretary in his office shall be appointed by Congress, and allowed a salary of dollars per annum. That he be also authorized to appoint an under secretary in his office, who shall be allowed a salary of dollars per annum, and such a number of clerks as Congress may from time to time direct, each with an allowance of dollars per annum. That as well the secretary of Congress and for the home department, as the deputy secretary, under secretary and clerks, previous to their entering on the duties of their respective appointments, shall take and subscribe the oaths or affirmations of fidelity and of office, prescribed in an ordinance passed on the 28th day of May, 1784, which oaths shall be taken by the said secretary, before the president of Congress.—And that all former resolutions for regulating the Duties of the office of the secretary of Congress, be, and they are hereby repealed.

Library of Congress

Pass'd Mr. Gerry Secretary's Office Tuesday